Furniture

Introducing Series II, a collection of seven pieces resulting from the mindful melding of visionary design, heritage materials and contemporary craftsmanship. It's the natural evolution of a narrative established by the HH40 Collection which launched last year. That range, which debuted in celebration of the brand's 40th anniversary, was created by the HOLLY HUNT Studio team, led by Executive Creative Director Jo Annah Kornak and Founder Holly Hunt. Series II is the next layer of that expression with new livable designs for dining, living and bedroom areas. All are realized in domestic workshops using the highest quality raw materials, incorporating quiet details that enhance the experience of each piece. Beautiful from every angle, the Series II collection embodies the continuing appeal and enduring legacy of HOLLY HUNT.

Ronin Sconce

The Ronin Sconce is the latest manifestation of the iconic Ronin series. A play between material and void, sculpted cuffs are carefully formed to create a thoughtful and dynamic composition. A concealed light source pushes light into the form and through its negative spaces for shadow play. The result is a back-lit and light-filled contemporary motif that is both classic and gestural.

This cast bronze piece is available in right- and left-facing orientations as well as Monument Dark and Polished Bronze finishes.

Organic Falling Stars

When creating the iconic Falling Stars Light, artist Stefan Gulassa was inspired by the geological patterns formed when the shore of a river or lake is eroded as the water recedes. For the new Organic Falling Stars, he infuses an undulating natural shape to the juxtaposition of patinated and mirror-polished bronze. There is a mesmerizing golden glow when lit, drawing the eye to the piece's internal striations. It is equally fetching when unlit, as a sculptural work enticing from every angle. Designed in two sizes and configurable as a sconce or a ceiling mount, the Falling Stars series is especially stunning when installed in multiples, creating a constellation.
